of a SOP is to carry out the operations correctly and always in the same manner. A SOP should be available at the place where the work is done".

A SOP is a compulsory instruction. If deviations from this instruction are allowed, the conditions for these should be documented including who can give permission for this and what exactly the complete procedure will be. The original should rest at a secure place while working copies should be authenticated with stamps and/or signatures of authorized persons.

Several categories and types of SOPs can be distinguished. The name "SOP" may not always be appropriate, e.g., the description of situations or other matters may better designated protocols, instructions or simply registration form. Also worksheets belonging to an analytical procedure have to be standardized (to avoid jotting down readings and calculations on odd pieces of paper). The term standard SOP, is used in a variety of different contexts, including healthcare, aviation, engineering, education, industry and military. Such procedures are a set of step-by-step instructions to achieve a predictable, standardized, desired result often within the context of a longer overall process.
